Fire-Fighting Apparatus

At the tryout of the new fire engine for the town which took place last week, the Mayor and four Councillors were present. Delivery was made on behalf of the Bickle Engine Co. by Mr Broadfoot and another member of the Edmonton Brigade. In performance the engine showed up to be all which had been guaranteed on its behalf, and two good streams of water were thrown from the siamese coupling; and one stream with all the hose attached showed a particularly good nozzle pressure, taking the bark off Gus Mintz's fence posts, 30 feet away. The only flaw shown was when a sudden pressure was thrown on the hose, several of the couplings parted company with the fabric, breaking the stream.

The hose was sent to the City for repairs, which were made.

Just before 6 o'clock on Friday evening the fire bell was rung, with the object of giving an exhibition of what really could be done in an emergency. The engine was taken to the tank and the hose reel run down Main street, and in a very short time a good stream was playing on the Atlas building. After ten minutes' play on this place and the Royal Hotel, the hose was coupled on the siamese, and very soon two good streams were playing on several nearby business places. The repaired hose was on its good behavior, and the demonstration seemed to give good satisfaction to the business men who were present.

Special Meeting of U.F. Local

A special meeting of the U.F. Local was called Saturday night, to discuss the supply of binder twine to the members this season. Mr Lockhart, manager of the I. H. C., Edmonton, was present, and it is understood he quoted prices of 12.70 a d 13.70 by the car lot, if the twine is purchased thru his company.

The matter of having a picnic Victoria Day was discussed, and a committee was appointed to make the arrangements.

Sporting Notes.

Spruce Grove's ball team came up to Stony on the 20th, and played a game with the local team which proved to be very exciting all the way thru. Stony had their good battery, Simmons and Zuehl, on the job, and won by 7 runs to 6. Spruce Grove battery—Mose Black Horse and Felix Strongman.

A football game is being arranged between the members of Stony Plain Town Council and the Councillors of Inga M. D.

Most of the spring work on the farms now being out of the way, the firing squads outside the town are now commencing to make regular trips to the Comet Butts.

Owing to rival attractions, there was a poor attendance at the regular football practice Friday night.

Quite a number of marksmen were in attendance at the Rifle Butts on Saturday. Join the Rifle Club now—$1.00 does it. See Secretary Lindy.

Heed The Small Things

In these latter days people have become so used to hearing of and talking about millions, especially millions and hundreds, even thousands of millions of national debts, that seldom or ever is the old childhood rhyme of a generation ago heard—"Little drops of water, little grains of sand, make the mighty ocean and the beautiful land." And it is a thousand pities that this is so, and it indicates a development of a disregard, even a contempt, for little things; a tendency of the present-day generation which is responsible for much of the extravagance and waste so noticeable in this country in comparison with other lands where for many centuries the people have been taught to live frugally and give heed to the small things.

For months past the newspaper press of the country has been filled with discussions in Parliament, Legislatures, farmers' conventions, and the editorial columns, of the great subject of wheat marketing and the pros and cons of the advisability of a Wheat Board. It is a big subject, involving hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat, hundreds of millions of dollars, tens of thousands of individual farmers, and all the ramifications of the grain trade, grain exchanges, flour milling industry, rail, lake and ocean shipping. Important as this large problem unquestionably is, the regrettable fact is that the attention of the individual, as well as of the public at large, has become so centred upon it in the effort to achieve a big gain, that the many small avenues of profit, and ways of stopping numerous small losses, which in the aggregate are after all so very big, are lost sight of and all but ignored.

The attention of the writer was drawn the other day to a statement by a Saskatchewan Government official to the fact that of fifteen carloads of potatoes bought by Saskatchewan wholesale houses in April, only two were shipped from Saskatchewan points, the remainder being imported from other Provinces, while at the same time there was a surplus of potatoes in the hands of Saskatchewan farmers not being marketed. Why? Why did Saskatchewan wholesalers import potatoes for consumption in Saskatchewan, paying heavier freights on the longer haul instead of buying the home grown product? Because so many Saskatchewan growers are careless of the little things and thus lose their own market. Poor grading of potatoes, diseased potatoes, dirt, improperly bagged, some bags containing 100 pounds, some 50 pounds, are among the reasons given why wholesalers import instead of buying at home. Little things in themselves, but which are costing Saskatchewan farmers heavy loss, and imposing on Saskatchewan consumers an unnecessary expense.

In the same issue of the newspaper in which the above statement appeared was a post office report of the effect that over sixteen million incorrectly or insufficiently addressed pieces of mail matter are handled by the post offices of Canada in a year, and no less than 98 per cent. is due to carelessness on the part of the sender. Apart from the loss thus sustained by the sender and the receiver, this carelessness adds enormously to the expense of the postal service, thus operating to keep up postage rates and increase taxation. Yet each individual act of carelessness is but a "little" matter, although the total runs into those millions of which we love to talk about these days.

The neglect to look after the growth of weeds on an individual farm may likewise seem a little matter, but one or two neglected quarter sections may adversely affect a whole township and reduce the yield of wheat per acre throughout the entire area. The loss of a bushel an acre at one dollar per bushel means a loss for the township of over $20,000. After all, is this a little matter? In the aggregate, could not more be saved our farmers by successfully fighting the weed pest than can be made for them by any Wheat Board?

A smoker carelessly throws away a match or a cigarette stub and starts a prairie or forest fire, and hundreds of thousands, sometimes millions of dollars worth of property is destroyed, yet the original act was such a little, commonplace occurrence! A child is allowed to play with matches, and the home is destroyed! A man or boy carelessly handles gun—he didn't know it was loaded—and a life is taken or a person blinded or maimed for life! Who dares say these are little things and all? Yet it is just these little things which are causing the loss of millions of dollars worth of valuable forests in Canada every year, and the loss of much more valuable human lives. Canada's fire loss is rated as the heaviest per capita in the world. We are paying for it now, and posterity will be called upon to pay an even heavier price. And the price, the crime of it is that nearly all of this loss is preventable and most of it due to carelessness, to our criminal disregard and contempt for so-called little things.

Anglo-American Accord

Relations Between the Two English-Speaking Nations Were Never Better

The Sulgrave Institution of the United States reports that relations are "distinctly less friendly." That may or may not be true. So far as fundamental interests go, the relations between the two countries were never better, and for a century they have been better than those of any two other great powers which rub elbows. The best evidence of how fundamentally good they have been is that whenever relations have been tested by really serious disputes the matter has naturally been intrusted to some form of arbitration. Between the two peoples it can truly be said that war has been morally outlawed.

It is therefore not necessary, and probably not useful to sit up nights taking the temperature and pulse of Anglo-American relations. Modes of irritation are bound to come and go, and somehow professional friendship-makers have an unhappy faculty of accentuating as much unfriendliness as they cure. Neither the British nor the American people is prone to flattery and unctious. They naturally distrust and dislike them. And when they read solemn pronouncements about international relations being deeply affected by moving pictures of American home life they grow very weary at fussy Fanny and middle-some Matties.—The N.Y. World.

Why do people hold pie-eating contests or go in for amateur theatricals or college athletics?" Well, now, it begins to look as if psychology were going to be really interesting.—Providence Journal.

Potential Value Of Immense Salt Deposits Of Northern Alberta

Salt, which is such a vital necessity of our everyday life, has always been a plentiful and cheap commodity in Canada, says the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior. In no place, however, has it ever been cheaper and more easily obtained than in the vicinity of Fort Smith, in Northern Canada. Here the Hudson's Bay Company, the various missions and other inhabitants of that district secure their yearly supply simply by gathering it up into sacks and packing it away. The source of this salt is a number of salt springs, which are located along what is known as the Salt River, on the boundary of the New Wood Buffalo Park. This park has but recently been created by the Dominion Government to provide protection to the only remaining herd of wild wood buffalo.

When millions of buffalo roamed freely over practically one-third of this continent extending all the way from Mexico to the Mackenzie River district this locality was a common meeting ground for the buffalo, whence they came to lick up the salt. It was no doubt while following the trail of these majestic animals that the white man first became aware of the existence of these salt springs.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie, on his voyage of exploration through the district in 1789, located and reported upon these salt springs, and Daniel William Hammon, of the Northwest Company, wrote in his journal in 1808, "About sixty miles from this (Chilpewyan), down Salve River, there are several places where almost any quantity of excellent, clean, white salt may be taken with as much ease as sand along the seashore. From these places the greater part of the Northwest is supplied with this valuable article."

These springs have always been a source of supply of salt for the white inhabitants of this district and the Lower Mackenzie Valley. The native Indian is not, and has never been, a user of salt to any appreciable extent.

The water from these springs carries an almost saturated solution of pure salt, part of which is precipitated as soon as it comes in contact with the atmosphere, with the result that mounds of salt from three to five feet in depth and in some cases 100 feet in diameter are to be found at the mouths of the springs.

R. G. McConnell, of the Geological Survey, in his report of his explorations in this district in 1887, mentions several salt springs draining into Salt River, near Fort Smith, and says that the salt is remarkably pure.

The deposits vary in size up to 150 tons. From three to five tons are collected annually. The salt has also been tested by both the Department of Mines at Ottawa and the University of Alberta at Edmonton, and has been reported upon as being practically pure. The deposits are recently visited by officials of the Natural Resources Intelligence Service, Department of the Interior, while exploring the present habitat of the wood buffalo. The area in which is found these salt springs is 290 miles north of the present terminus of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway and is reached by way of the Athabasca and Slave Rivers, lying to the west of the latter river from Fort Smith, to twenty miles in a straight line. Their economic value at present is restricted because of the distance from the outside market and railway transportation. They have, however, a very important potential value in the settlement of this district and particularly in the eventual development of the fish industry of Athabasca and Great Slave Lakes, which contain some of the finest fish on the North American continent.

Northern Alberta, however, has many other salt deposits, the most notable of which, from the standpoint of possible commercial development, are those at McMurray, near the end of steel of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway. According to test borings made by the Alberta Government in 1919 and 1920, there is from twenty-five to forty feet of rock salt of commercial value at a depth of 651 feet. At least fourteen feet of this deposit occurs in the form of transparent, colorless rock salt. This boring was made to a depth of 937 feet. It is reasonable to expect, from the conditions at the bottom of the boreholes, that there may be even a greater thickness of rock salt below the depth reached.

Outfitting the salt used for the pulp and sea fisheries and for chemical industries, Canada in 1921 used 41 pounds of salt per person. A conservative estimate, therefore, of Alberta's salt consumption might place it at 25,000,000 lbs. With almost an equal consumption in each of the adjoining provinces, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, a ready home market is available for any development which may be undertaken of these deposits.

New Brunswick Protects Forests

Must Have Permit Before Going On a Picnic to Woods

A proclamation has been issued by the Minister of Lands and Mines, in which all forest land in New Brunswick is proclaimed a protected area. No person may enter upon any forest land between May 1 and November 1 to camp, fish, picnic, or for any other purpose, without first registering with a fire warden, or other authorized person, and obtaining a registration certificate.

Mexico has certain localities where rain has never been known to fall.

Select Bacon Hogs

Necessity of Producing Type That Suits the English Market

In the Canadian hog industry today the first necessity is a far greater production of the select bacon hog of the type, quality and conformation that suits the English market. This alone to the hog that can be converted into the "Wiltshire side." In the last two years the Dutch producer and packer have obtained a firmer grip on the English bacon trade. They were able to get this trade by elevating improvement in swine and steady aim in producing an improved bacon hog to yield superior bacon in sufficient numbers to guarantee consumers an unbroken supply of uniform quality. The aim was high quality, smooth, even fleshing and a well-balanced side—a side that would be pleasing to the wholesaler and retailer and would command top, or near top, prices in England. These were the reasons why Denmark supplied Great Britain last year with 29 per cent. of the bacon imported while Canada supplied 11 per cent. at prices that were 25 to 40 shillings a hundredweight under the Danish.

This would indicate that the Danish co-operation is wanted on the part of our producers, breeders, Dominion and provincial livestock departments, and packers to further the definite policy by which our handicraft may be overcome.

880 Settlers From U.S.

No Evidence That Grasses Cause Spread Of Rust In Wheat

Canada's Export Of Meat

Big Gain Shown in First Three Months Of Year

Canada exported to Great Britain during the first three months of this year 3,445,100 lbs. of beef against 1,889,200 lbs. in the corresponding months of last year, 27,074,000 lbs. of bacon against 24,639,700 lbs.; and 1,592,660 lbs. of pork against 1,500,000 lbs. She exported altogether in the first quarter of this year against the same period last year 6,492,500 lbs. of beef against 3,688,600 lbs.; 27,396,500 lbs. of bacon against 24,947,800 lbs.; and 1,641,500 lbs. of pork against 1,655,200 lbs. There was a drop to 31,890 lbs. of mutton compared with 1,110,100 lbs.

Exports of Wheat and Flour

Total exports of wheat for the fiscal year ending March were 106,294,000 bushels, or 57,000,000 bushels more than during the preceding period, the value being $54,000,000 greater. Exports of wheat flour during the same period were 7,255,000 barrels, an increase of 2,550,000 over those for the preceding period, the value being $40,922,968, or $2,441,000 greater.

He (who is going abroad to seek his fortune).—"You'll be true to me, won't you, darling?" She.—"Yes, George, if—if you're successful."

It is well known that stem rust is the cause of very serious losses of wheat. Since many grasses are susceptible to rust it would be of interest to know just what grasses are attacked and what part they play in the spread of rust, and if they help to carry the rust over the winter. Much study has been given to this phase of the rust question in Western Canada, and the statements following are based on these. They refer only to the form of rust attacking wheat and barley. The stem rust of oats will not spread to wheat, states W. P. Fraser, Plant Pathologist.

The grasses that rust readily are wild barley (or stink grass, as it is sometimes called), western ryegrass, which is commonly used for hay in Western Canada, and the wheat grasses, including western couch grass, which has been introduced into Western Canada, is not attacked by the wheat form of stem rust. Another grass that rusts heavily is Macoun's wild ryegrass, or grass. Where other grasses are attacked, but either they are not common or not very susceptible. The grasses which rust heavily help to produce a greater number of red or summer spores, and thus aid in the spread of rust. Where barberries are present, grasses usually grow near them, and the rust appears on the grasses first and then spreads to wheat. This spread can be easily avoided by the destruction of the barberries.

Do the grasses aid in carrying the rust over the winter? It has been shown that the summer or red spore of the rust can live over the winter, under the sheath of the grasses and in sheltered places. They have been found to remain alive well into the spring, but there is no other evidence that the infection of wheat comes from grasses. It seems probable if they were an important source of early infection, that rust would appear first on grasses and spread to wheat, especially as the young grasses appear before wheat, but this is not the case, so far as observation has gone. Grasses such as wild barley that were heavily rusted the previous season, have been watched for several years in many places in the spring and early summer, but all the observations showed that rust appeared first on wheat and spread to the grasses. When rust first appears, the wheat generally shows a slight amount of rust over large areas, which suggests that infection came from spores carried by the wind for some distance rather than from grasses nearby.

Briefly, then, there is no certain evidence that grasses carry the rust over the winter, though it is possible they do in a few cases. There is no evidence to support the view that grasses are mainly responsible for the appearance of rust in spring. In Canada, so far as our information goes, some other source is responsible for the over-wintering and origin of the rust outbreaks each season.

Excavating in Upper Egypt

Famous Airman Made Track Across Desert to Reach Siwa

Mummies claimed to be between 2,000 and 4,000 years old, much older, perhaps than the Tutankhamen—have been found in Upper Egypt by Major W. T. Blake, the airman who last year attempted to fly around the world.

Major Blake arrived in London recently. "We went 200 miles west of Alexandria," he said, "and then crossed the open desert to the south to Siwa, which for a long time was the headquarters of the Semites."

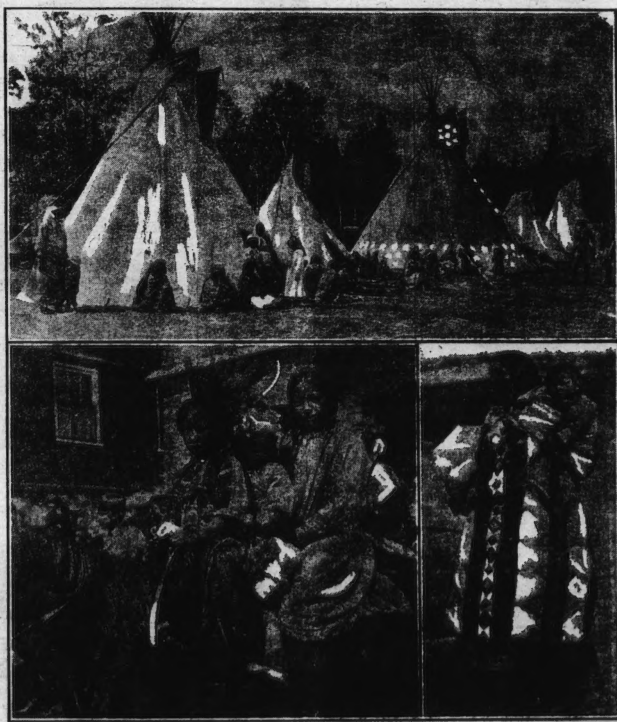

"Rock tombs abound in the neighborhood of Siwa. We opened several and found mummies in every tomb. They were very badly preserved. In many cases only the bones were left."

"No excavation work has been done in the region owing to the difficulty of reaching Siwa. Hundreds of tombs lie unopened."

"Siwa itself is a collection of mud huts, built on a coastal plain, in the midst of a growth of date palms. We had to make our own track across the desert to reach it."

Wood is extremely scarce in Egypt—land; that which drifts in from the sea is eagerly seized.

Indian Day At Banff Now An Institution

(1) Village of tepees, at the foot of Cascade Mountain. (2) "Three's a Crowd," in the courtyard of Banff Springs Hotel. (3) The papoose enjoys its first "Indian Day." (4) A group of people in the courtyard.

Thirty-two years ago, an exceptionally violent rainstorm swept British Columbia and Alberta, and spent itself in the reaches of the Rockies. The rush of water caused the mountain streams to flood to such an extent that the Canadian Pacific Railway line was washed out in many places, and for nearly two weeks no train could get through. Hundreds of passengers were storm-torn and, although the company afforded as good accommodation as could be provided in the Banff Springs Hotel, many found the delay exceedingly irksome, and to divert them it was arranged that some fifty of the Stony Indians should come up from the Morley Reserve.

In due time, after fording the swollen rivers and surmounting other obstacles, the Indians reached Banff with their ponies, and thus was originated the Banff "Indian Day." Men, women, children and horses, all adorned with paint of brightest hues and the quaint and gorgeous trappings that delight the "red man," paraded the streets to the delight of the stranded voyagers as they have since done annually for the edification and entertainment of tourists and others gathered to see the event. The parade over the Indians broke off into groups and cantored back to their temporary homes in the village of tepees erected on the level valley at the foot of Cascade Mountain, where, their forefathers had camped long years before the white man drove his "iron horses" through the mountain passes.

After so many years "Indian Day" has become a regular and much looked for institution, and nothing is left undone which will tend to its success. This year it will be held on July 16th, and arrangements have been made to have it extend over the next day also. The sports consist chiefly of horse and foot racing, bucking contests, wrestling on horseback and competition pitching and striking tepees. Native Indian dances are entered into with great spirit, and the event is a gorgeous spectacle.

"I didn't have time last night to tell him," Dorothy interposed.

"A number of my boys got into a shooting affray with some rascals," Trowbridge explained. "Two of the boys were hurt and one of the herdsmen, I understand, was badly shot."

"Too bad," Wade commented. "Confound it, Lem, what are these fellows thinking of? You must know that our patience won't last always, and when it breaks we're very keen to their one."

"Well"—Trowbridge deftly flicked his cigarette stub over the porch railing—"I'm through now, Gordon. I've given my men orders to stand for no more nonsense. I've told them to shoot at the drop of the hat, and I'll stand behind 'em, law or no law. The next time there's trouble, and it's likely to come any hour, I'm going to lead my outfit into a fight that'll be some fight, believe me. And I'm not going to quit until every sheep man in the county is headed East on the run."

"We'll be with you," Wade said heartily. "Tip us the word and we'll be right after you."

Trowbridge nodded. "I'll take you up on that, Gordon. Not that we need help, you understand, but because you're best for us to present a united front in this business. United, we stand; divided, we fall; that's the word, my boy."

Dorothy leaned forward, with an anxious look. "Oh!" she exclaimed. "I hope neither one of you will get shot."

Trowbridge made her a bow from his chair. "We'll try not to," he said mockingly, and she was obliged to join in the general laugh.

"If you feel that you ought to do it, of course you will—right, I mean," she said, helplessly. "But I think it's dreadful, all the same."

"What has Thomas done about me?" Wade asked, understanding that

Restored Her Health

River Desert, Que.—"I used to have a severe pain in my side. I would be unable to walk fast and could not stand for any length of time without my ironing or washing, but I was unable to lie down to get relief from the pain. I had this for about two years, then a friend told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had good results from it, too, as the time I had a sore side was last May and I have not had it since. I am also glad of having good nursing for my baby, and I think it is your medicine that helped me in this way."—Mrs. L. V. BUDGE, River Desert, Que.

he's holding quite a bunch of warrants up his sleeve?"

"I don't think he's done anything, and I don't believe he's anxious to," Trowbridge answered. "He's shown some courage, that fellow, in the past, and I always thought he had a yellow streak in him somewhere. I don't think you need fear him much."

"What I'm glad to know that, not that I've been very uneasy, but we've had to keep a pretty close lookout here, and it's troubled us up uncomfortably. I want to go out to my timber claim this afternoon, and but for you I should have been there."

"I don't think I can leave him here to attend to his work," Dorothy was opposed to the idea and she said so, but her opinion was overridden by the two men. Trowbridge declared that there was absolutely nothing to fear from Sheriff Thomas, at least immediately.

"I'm positive of that," he summed up. "If there was any new move on foot, I'd have heard of it."

"That may be," Dorothy argued, "but you know Senator Rexhill is behind him to urge him on."

"That's another man we ought to run out of this neighborhood," Trowbridge declared. "The only trouble is that the old fox has laid so low that we haven't anything definite on him. We can suspect all we like; but when it comes right down to facts, he has us guessing."

"He can't prove a thing against him, and he's too big game to flush without powder. Well, we'll let him be off."

"Stay a while," Wade urged. "It's early yet. I didn't mean to hurry you. I spoke of going out to the claim. I've got plenty of time."

"I haven't told him about the gold," Dorothy whispered, as he helped her into her saddle. "I thought you might want to keep it quiet for the present."

"Sure, we'll tell him," he said, pressing her hand. "We're all on the same side in this business."

He explained his good fortune to Trowbridge, who was delighted and showed the prospect of the vein impinging upon his own range.

"Well, that is some luck, eh?" Trowbridge skillfully managed his horse, which was high-spirited enough to still be sportive in spite of the long ride of the morning. "Every cloud's got a silver lining, as the poet says. And another thing, it shows Rexhill's real motive, don't forget that. Oh, we'll get 'em by and by. Sure thing, we will. Well, so long."

"So long, Lem!" Call on us when you want us."

"Good-bye!" Dorothy waved to him as the horses sped away in the direction of Crawling Water.

Wade watched them out of sight, and then entered the house to tell Santry that he would not be needed on the afternoon trip to the timber claim. The old man growled a little at the idea of Wade going alone, but he finally gave in.

"I'll take my gun and keep my eye peeled," his employer promised. "I can't stand off trouble until I get home, or you can get to me, I'll lose my bet. You've got your work to do, Bill. If you're going to nurse me all the time, I'll have to get another horse to run the crew."

He rode away, then, toward the foothills, confident of his ability to find himself in case of trouble, else he'd have been a rattling genius at a hand over at the ranch, a fellow named Barry, who can tie down a steer in pretty close to the record. He's a born cowboy. If I ever saw one, that's his line."

"Doesn't he ask politely. One of the secrets of her popularity lay in her willingness to feed a story along with a little bit of interest."

"He does not! Poetry! Shakespeare! That's his story." At night he gets out a book and reads Hamlet to the rest of the boys. "Think that if he'd ever hit Broadway with a show, he'd set the town on fire."

Over the plains, from which Wade now turned, hundreds of red and white cattle, their hides as sleek as velvet, were grazing, singly and in scattered groups, as far as the eye could see. Toward its mouth, the valley was spotted with many fenced alfalfa fields, and traversed by irrigation ditches; while to the right, in the direction in which Wade now rode, rose the timber belt. A fresh, cool breeze, fragrant with the odor of clean, damp earth, rustled the leaves of the cottonwoods, some of which were of enormous size, as the horseman pushed his way farther into the shadow of the mountains.

After a careful scrutiny, which satisfied him that the vicinity harbored no enemies, he dismounted, but still actuated by caution, kept the bridle reined over his wrist, as he searched for further evidence of gold.

Unlike Santry, the ranchman was not trained in the ways of prospecting, and he began to regret that he had not allowed the foreman to accompany him. He followed what he thought were promising signs deeper into the silence of the tall timber, and finally dropped on his knees to make sure of some outcroppings of quartz near the base of a huge bowlder. He was so crouched when a sudden movement of his horse warned him of danger; but he had not time to arise before a crushing blow on the head, delivered from behind, shook him to the very marrow of his spine. With a low groan, he toppled over on to his face, senseless.

"Have you got him?" Moran peered around the side of the bowlder, and smiled exultantly when he saw Wade's still figure. "Throw him across your saddle," he commanded, "and follow me."

CHAPTER XV.

The First Clue

"Let's see!" Trowbridge reined in his horse and waited when he and Dorothy had covered several miles of their ride back to Crawling Water, where Wade had been.

"I think it was over there," she pointed with her quiet in the direction of a distant clump of jack-pines. "Why?"

"Suppose we ride over and take a look at the spot?" He smiled at her little shudder of repugnance. "We haven't any Sherlock Holmes in this country, and maybe we need one. I'll have a try at it. Come on!"

In response to the pressure of his knees, the trained cow-pony whirled toward the jack-pines, and Dorothy, laughing at the idea that so ingenious a man as Len Trowbridge might possess the analytical gift of the trained detective.

"You!" she said mockingly, when she had caught up with him. "You're as transparent as glass; not that it's nice to be that way, but still you are. Besides, the rain we've had must have washed all tracks away."

"No doubt, but we'll have a look anyway." It won't do any harm, serious though the ways of criminals have always interested me. I'd rather read a good detective story than any other sort of yarn."

"I shouldn't think that you had any gift that way."

"That's got nothing to do with it," he laughed. "It's always like that. Haven't you noticed how nearly every man thinks he missed his calling; that he'd only gone in for something else he'd have been a rattling genius at? Just to show you! I've got a hand over at the ranch, a fellow named Barry, who can tie down a steer in pretty close to the record. He's a born cowboy. If I ever saw one, that's his line."

When Dorothy laughed heartily, as she now did, the sound of it was worth going miles to hear. There are all shades of temperament and character in laughter, which is the one thing of which we are least self-conscious; hers revealed not only a sense of humor, rare in her sex, but a blithe, happy nature, which made allies at once of those upon whom ears her merriest fell. Trowbridge's eyes sparkled with his appreciation of it.

"Well, maybe he would," she said, finally.

"Maybe I'll make good along with Sherlock Holmes." He winked at her, on the edge of a rocky knoll, fronting the jack-pines. "This is the place, I reckon." His quick eyes had caught dark stain on a flat rock, while the rain had fallen to cleanse entirely of the dead herders' blood.

When Dorothy saw it, too, her mirth subsided. To her mind, the thought of death was most horrible, and especially so in the case of a murderous death, such as had befallen the sheep men. Not only was the thing terrible in itself, but still more so in its suggestion of the dangers which threatened her friends.

"Do hurry!" she begged. "There can't be anything here."

"There are men, calling themselves conjurers, who perform prodigies of agility with clubs, playing-cards, and other articles of legerdemain, but they are not so quick as was Trowbridge in springing aside from the menacing snake. In still quicker movement, the heavy Colt at his side leaped from his holster. The next second the rattle had ceased forever; for the snake's head had been neatly cut from its body.

Object Of Government To Reduce Tariff By Gradual Process

Ottawa.—"I do not believe," declared Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, during further debate on the budget in the House, "and I have had nothing to convince me that so heavy a rate of protection is required as is given to many of the industries in this country today."

But there were peculiar conditions existing in Canada today, Mr. Stewart went on—pressing conditions, not only in regard to agriculture, but in regard to business. Much as he would desire tariff reductions that would mean something considerable in the cost of living, "it is not my desire, nor is it the desire of the Government, at this moment to jeopardize any of these industries while they are passing through such a trying period as they are today."

It was said that other countries generally were increasing their tariffs. That made it incumbent on those charged with the responsibility of government to go slowly in the matter of reduction.

"I want to say this," Mr. Stewart further declared, "we are going in that direction though our Progressive friends may think our progress slow."

J. H. Harris (Conservative, East York), referring to the new reciprocity offer, urged that the Canadian people did not wish to be beggars waiting for "crumbs to drop from the industrial tables of Uncle Sam."

T. L. Church (Conservative, Toronto North), urged that revenue might be raised by a tax on exported pulpwood and exported water power.

Hon. Mr. Stewart replied to some of the statements made during the debate by the Progressives. He would like to see the Progressives in power for four or five years, he said, in order that they might have a chance to put into effect some of the principles which they so zealously advocated. If the Progressives were ever trusted with the Government, they would find out that it was not possible to be so drastic as when in opposition. The first essential in tackling the job of government was to view the country as a whole throughout its length and breadth.

Progressives had laid great stress on the statement that agriculture was in a critical state in Canada. This he would not deny, but he would deny that it was the most strenuous period through which the farmers had passed in Canada. During his experience of some 40 years he had known worse conditions than those which the country was now passing. Furthermore, he challenged the leader of the Progressives (Mr. Forke) to name any country in the world where agriculture was as prosperous. The period 1890-96 was just as difficult as the present for Canada, but Canada had recovered and made splendid progress.

Moscow Appeals To Workmen of World

Internationale Says Vorovsky's Death Must Not Go Unchallenged

Moscow.—The Third Internationale has issued a general appeal to the workmen of the world in connection with the assassination of M. Vorovsky, the Soviet representative at Lausanne, in which it says: "This bloody challenge must not be left unanswered by you."

The appeal advises stronger organization of the struggle to bring about revolutionary success east and west. It holds Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, responsible as the chief inspiration of the Entente effort at Lausanne to prevent a Russo-Turkish rapprochement, and adds with reference to the recent British note: "Curzon demands that we shall not support the movement for liberty in India and Egypt, but such propaganda by action as the shooting of Vorovsky, has done more for the east than it would be possible for the Third Internationale to do."

Chinese Hint to Rebellion

Officials Think Inflammatory Notices Work of Responsible Persons

Tien Tsin, China.—Inflammatory circulars calling on the people to rise up against foreigners have been discovered in a number of nearby Chinese villages and in the native city here.

The circulars allege that a foreign committee whose names and occupations are given, is planning to turn the former German concession here over to the British. The German territory or settlement reverted to China upon the declaration of war against the Central Powers. Since then it has been badly administered by the Chinese, foreigners assert.

The circulating of the natives is regarded seriously, as it is not believed the circular was connected by irresponsible persons.

Farm Help In Demand

Active Demand for Labor During Month of April

Ottawa.—There was an active demand for farm labor during April in Quebec, Ontario and the prairie provinces, according to the Department of Labor. Conditions in the building and construction industries showed improvement, except in the Maritime Provinces and Manitoba. There was a slight increase demand for loggers in British Columbia. The manufacturing group showed slight gains in employment, especially in the metal trades and textiles.

Expect Average Strawberry Crop

British Columbia and Ontario Will Have Good Yield

Ottawa.—A survey of the strawberry crop prospects has just been completed by the fruit branch of the Department of Agriculture, and from the information available it appears that there will be good average crops in the heavy strawberry-producing districts both in British Columbia and Ontario. Throughout the Dominion there is considerably larger acreage this year than last.

UNITY OF MANKIND

LORD ROBERT CECIL SPEAKS OF IMPRESSION GAINED IN U.S.

London.—Lord Robert Cecil, recently returned from Canada and the United States, said at a luncheon held in his honor, organized by the League of Nations supporters, that the United States doubted whether Europe was really sincere in its desire for peace.

There was a growing recognition in the United States, said Lord Robert, of the unity of mankind—economically, materially, morally and spiritually. "The American people," he continued, "recognize that what happens in any part of the world must have a repercussion and effect in the United States and in other parts of the world and they are trying to see what modifications of their foreign policy ought to be made to meet the situation."

The presence of the United States in Germany and Russia in the League was desirable, in order that they might contribute their voices to the great chorus of public opinion for the maintenance of peace throughout the world, he said, but he did not believe Great Britain should invite the United States to join the League.

Interpreters At Suffrage League

Various Languages Being Used at Conference in Rome

Rome.—A number of resolutions have been discussed by the congress of the International Women's Suffrage Alliance at its session.

One resolution demanded that women should be entitled, on marrying foreigners, to choose their nationality. The conference adopted the Italian language as an official language, the same as English and French.

The women delegates are speaking in all the various tongues of the world during the sessions, and interpreters are translating their addresses into the three official languages.

Alberta Post Office Robbed

Edmonton.—The post office at Brule Mines, west of here, was broken into, entrance being made by a rear window, the safe blown open and cash and registered articles to the value of $500 stolen. The robbery was effected by Postmaster Robert Hockley, who immediately notified Corporal Birks, who is now working on the case.

Opium Cargo Seized

Rumors Of Possible Hostilities Between Greece And Turkey

BOGUS GUN

FOOLS OFFICIALS

PRISONER MAKES ESCAPE FROM COURT ROOM AT NORTH BAY

North Bay, Ont.—"Waving a revolver and crying 'Hands up!'" Leo Rogers, 21, former convict at Kingston penitentiary set North Bay agog with excitement by one of the most sensational escapes from custody in local history. The escape was made just as the District Court was about to open from a court room partially filled with spectators. Reaching the street, Rogers jumped in a car and, threatening the driver, forced him to give him a lift. The desperado later leaped from the car and disappeared in the direction of Trout Lake.

He left his "revolver" in the car. It was a peculiarly well constructed article in imitation of a gun, consisting of a handle of cardboard covered with black paper, a piece of steel tubing inside a wooden barrel and an imitation trigger.

President Harding to Visit Vancouver

Purchase Bagdad Railway

Constantinople.—The Bagdad Railway has been purchased by a group of British and Swiss bankers, headed by the Rothschilds, according to the newspaper "Kaiserszeitung." The bankers said to have acquired the German and Austrian holdings in the road.

London.—Sensational rumors are current of possible hostilities between Greece and Turkey as the outcome of the reparations dispute at Lausanne, and, according to a Central News dispatch from Constantinople, a secret meeting is reported to have been held at British general headquarters to consider eventualities. No confirmation of this rumor, however, is obtainable in official circles here.

Reuter's Athens correspondent says the newspapers there stated that the Greek delegation has been instructed to leave Lausanne should a plenary meeting of the Near East conference pronounce in favor of payment of indemnities by Greece.

According to the Athens correspondent of the Times referring to these rumors, Col. Plastides, one of the leading authorities, in the course of an interview, voiced a denial, saying that Greece's intentions were entirely pacific. He added that Greece would take no precipitate action without consulting the allies, but was absolutely determined not to pay a single penny of indemnity.

Death Of U.S. Financier

George J. Gould, Multi-Millionaire, Passes Away at His Villa in France

Montone, France.—George J. Gould, the United States financier, who has been ill at Cap Martin, near here, for some time, died May 16.

Mr. Gould was stricken with pneumonia at his villa on March 20. For several days his condition remained critical but he then rallied and on April 3 was said to be out of danger. Three weeks later, however, he suffered a relapse and on May 3 took a turn for the worse.

The end came peacefully. Mr. Gould's wife and two children were at his bedside.

Unemployment In Britain

300,000 Able-Bodied Veterans Are Out of Work

London.—The number of unemployed ex-soldiers—said to total 300,000 able-bodied men—to be benefited by government emigration assistance, must depend, among other things, on the absorptive capacity of the dominions. Gen. Sir Arthur Baskley, Secretary of the Overseas Trade Department, stated in the House of Commons during question time.

It was hoped, he said, during the next 12 months, to have a measure adopted which, at a rough estimate, would make possible the emigration of 1,500 unemployed ex-soldiers a week.

More Hebrideans Canada Bound

Life will not be a bed of roses for those who have newly arrived and they will have to work, and hard, but this they can do. They are the descendants of the "lads of the isles" who by strength of arms repulsed the invasions of the Scandinavians and Scots. Social and industrial development was retarded to a great extent by the clan system, but those who have adopted Canada are well educated and a simple life of toil in adversity through generations has given them a splendid physique and simple dignity. Although forced by hard times to leave their homes to make new ones, most of them are in sufficient funds and not a few families about the Monticulus were possessed of over £100. Some have stopped in Ontario but a larger proportion of them have come to Red Deer, Alberta, where they will form a small colony.

THE Hebrideans are a home-loving race of people not much given to wandering from their native heath, but the arrival at St. John aboard the Canadian Pacific steamships Marloch and Metagama of over six hundred sturdy men and women of the western isles, forced by stern necessity to seek their fortunes in the west, was a sight to behold. When the settlement was wiped out on one occasion and many of them wiped out, the remainder were forced to leave. However, they returned in time to harvest the first western wheat crop and many attribute to this fact that Winnipeg stands where it does to-day.

Here and There

Each acre of corn grown in Ohio costs on an average more than of labor.

Canada is now second on the list as an exporting land, the per capita being $100.63 per annum.

A new station is being built by the Canadian Pacific Railway at Fredericton at a cost of $30,000.

Half a million Canadians look to the forests each day for their meat and lodging, and more than 100,000 Canadian workmen are engaged in converting forest products into one form or another.

The large party of Hebrideans who were brought to Canada on the Canadian Pacific Steamships "Metagama" and "Marloch" have gone to Red Deer, Alta., where they will form an agricultural colony.

Seven hundred farmers and farm laborers arrived in Canada recently on the Canadian Pacific steamer "Montcalm." These colonists are proceeding to Ontario and western points where they will take up farm work.

The project of a ship canal across Scotland from the Clyde to the Firth of Forth was brought to the fore again at a recent meeting of the Mid-Scotland Ship Canal Association, and there is a possibility of something being started in this connection in the near future.

A single pair of potato bugs would, without check, increase to 60,000,000 in one season; the hop aphid, developing thirteen generations in a single year, would, if unchecked to the end of the twelfth generation, have multiplied to ten sextillions.

Canadian air pilots flew 294,469 miles carrying 5,152 passengers and freight in 1922, according to a report of the Canadian Air Board. Saskatchewan pilots led in the Dominion, carrying 3,822 passengers. Manitoba pilots carried 1,622 passengers, and British Columbia pilots 1,122.

A company has been formed in London to exploit the treasure in Navarino Bay off the west coast of Greece. The promoters state that there is a matter of $45,000,000 in bullion and other forms still at the bottom of the Bay, where it was sunk with the united fleets of Egypt and Turkey by the united British, French and Russian fleets in 1827.

Last summer 4,000 forest fires cleared away at least ten times as many trees as were cut down for lumber, pulp and paper, and all other industrial purposes. A very large percentage of the fires were caused by careless campers and sportsmen who "thought it would die out" or cast away a lighted match or cigarette end.

Improvement of camping facilities at Banff for automobile tourists is now being made. The Mount Rundle camp site is being improved and enlarged, and will be equipped with all modern appliances. It is expected that as a result of the opening of the Banff-Windermere road this year, the tourist traffic through Banff will be the heaviest ever recorded.

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway, President E. W. Beatty pointed out that prospects for the immigration into Canada of the class of colonist urgently needed to develop the country's natural resources were much brighter than they had been in the past two or three years, and as increased traffic from Great Britain and Northern Europe was indicated by the largely increased western movement on the company's ships during the past four months of this year.

Bill Ibsen's Good Cattle

Along with that very excellent cow Duffield Pearl 131998, owned by Mr C W Ibsen of Duffield, whose R.O.P. was recently mentioned in The Sun, might be noted a score of others owned by the same gentleman, among which is Duffield Butterfly 159867, a 2-yr-old Shorthorn. In the 365 day test just recently finished, this cow gave 7303 lbs milk and 343 lbs fat; average per cent of fat 4.69. Her best month was May with 862 lbs milk and 36 22 lbs fat.

This same cow in a 305 day test gave 6921 lbs milk and 319 lbs fat; average per cent of fat 4.61. This is a dual-purpose animal, and is bred for beef as well as her record at the pail. These are records of which any cattle raiser might well be proud, and Mr Ibsen has set a high mark, in his district, with his excellent herd.

SUFFERED SO FROM HEART AND NERVES LIFE WAS A BURDEN

Mr. A. H. Lee, Beaumont, Ont., writes: "I am delighted to let you know what I have to say regarding the good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did me."

A short time ago I suffered with heart and nerve trouble, and was so bad I could not sleep only about two hours each night. My heart was so bad I had spells when driving on the road and would faint away, and neighbors would carry me in from my wagon. I also took these pills in the night and during my daily work on the farm. My nerves were so bad I would jump off my horse, and was then compelled to walk the floor before I could settle down again, but after taking a few boxes of

Where Does Responsibility Rest

More Care Should Be Taken in Issuing Motor Licenses

In Philadelphia an automobile got on the sidewalk and killed a young woman. When the driver was arrested it was found that he was a paralytic, utterly helpless as to one leg and partially so as to one arm. It was further disclosed that he had been thus crippled from childhood. Yet the state of Pennsylvania had issued him a license to drive an automobile. On his trial his infirmities were pleaded in his behalf, but he was sentenced to imprisonment for from four to six years. "The case raises the question," properly comments the New York Herald, "as to whether the responsibility for this fatality was exclusively that of the partially-crippled driver or whether some share of it should not fall upon those who created the conditions which permitted the issuance of a license to one in his condition."—Buffalo Express.

Pain in the Muscles, Stiffness in Joints, Quickly Subdued By Nervine

Those who have tested out numerous remedies will agree that where something is needed to do away with a deep-seated, more or less chronic condition there is nothing to compare with Nervine. Because Nervine penetrates so deeply, because it has about five times the strength of ordinary oil preparation, it has come to be known as a King over all Pain, Rheumatic conditions, muscular and joint troubles. It is a powerful muscle relaxant, and it proves this. Get a 25-cent bottle from your dealer to-day.

New Electric Condenser

Can Use Column of Water Instead of Wires to Transmit Power

It is reported that a European inventor uses a column of water instead of an electric wire for transmitting electric power. The current passes through the water with the same facility whether the water is in motion or stationary, and can be delivered at any desired frequency, or in more than one electric wire. Used for drilling granite in Cornwall, England, the special tools designed for the water wave impulses deliver 30 per cent. of the generated power, whereas the compressed air tools deliver only 10 per cent.

PAIN AFTER EATING

Proof That the Stomach is Weak and Needs Tonic Up

Generally speaking, a person in good health can digest most foods. If not, and there is pain after eating, the stomach has lost tone and is too weak to do its work. In that case, your stomach needs a tonic. The way to do this is to build up your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These cannot be digested without a sufficient supply of good red blood, and there's nothing better than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to renew and enrich the blood. That is why they have proved so successful in thousands of cases of indigestion. Mr. D. J. Shaw, Selkirk, P.E.I., has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a severe case of indigestion and relates his experience for the benefit of other sufferers. He says: "I suffered from indigestion for a number of years. My case was so bad that words fail to describe it. My appetite was gone, constipation was present, and my nerves were all on edge. I could not sleep well at night, and the world was a dark spot to me. I tried a number of remedies, but with no benefit. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended, but without much faith, after so many failures, I decided to try them. After taking three boxes I noticed a change for the better. Then I got three more boxes, and found I had a genuine remedy. I continued the treatment, took moderate exercise, could take good plain food without suffering as formerly, and proved that these pills make good blood, and that this good blood will restore the stomach and nerves. Anyone suffering from stomach or nerve troubles will make no mistake in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MINARD'S KING OF PAIN LINIMENT

Quaint Institution in London

Church for Deaf and Dumb Soon to be Closed

One of London's quaintest institutions, the deaf and dumb church of St. Saviour's, is soon to disappear. So far as known, it is the only church in the world devoted exclusively to worship by the deaf, dumb and the blind. The increased real estate value of the site upon which this unique institution is built has made it necessary to close its doors, but it is hoped to re-establish it in a more modest part of London.

True foundation, for the modest church was laid by the late King Edward in 1870, and it became familiar to the hundreds of thousands of Britons who pass along one of the busiest and noisiest thoroughfares of the capital. Yet it is doubtful if a tithe of those passers-by even thought to step inside to witness one of the deaf and dumb services.

Great Britain is one of the most advanced nations in the care and education of the educational needs of blind afflicted class of the population up to the age of 16 and gives them assistance in after years.

There are approximately 5,000 goats in British Columbia which have increased to these proportions from an original herd of 200 head imported from the United States in 1917, whilst a goat breeders' association in the province formed in the same year with a membership of 176, now has more than 400 adherents.

Useful in Camp.—Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs grow wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the Oil and the result will be the prevention of pains in the muscles, and should of cuts, or contusions, or sprains be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

Only a Youngster Yet

A London, England, man, aged 93, still an active member of a manufacturing firm, wrote to a paper there objecting to their referring to him as an old man.

Nation-wide Fame.—There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Cost Of Living

The average cost of the weekly budget for a family of five in Canadian cities was $104.44 the beginning of April, as compared with $107.27 at the beginning of March. The budget cost is for twenty-nine staple foods at average prices in some sixty cities. The same foods in April a year ago cost $10.26, compared with $7.41 in April, 1914, and $16.92 in June, 1920.

Wrs. Smith Declares Health Has Been Perfect Since Taniae Ended Stomach Trouble

"For ten years hardly a day passed that I didn't suffer from stomach trouble, but I took Taniae four years ago and haven't had a sick day since." Is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Thamar Smith, 55 McGee St., Toronto, Ont.

"The little I managed to eat simply tortured me with pains in the pit of my stomach, and gas pressed around my heart, causing it to skip leaps until I thought it would stop altogether. I was as nervous as a witch, and lost so much sleep that I was dark and swollen under my eyes. I was so weak and run down I could hardly walk a block or do my household work, and was almost in despair."

"Taniae certainly was a God-send in restoring me to such perfect health, and I think it's the greatest medicine ever made." Nearly everybody else is the same. Taniae is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Toronto, Ont.—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest help in motherhood of any medicine I have ever known. I regained my strength very quickly afterward. I was so thankful to have been advised of this medicine, I gave me such wonderful help.—Mrs. Henry McDonald, 3 Walnut Avenue.

 MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF INGA NO. 520.

At the meeting of the Council on the 5th inst. it was unanimously decided that some prompt action would have to be taken in order that the Municipality could realize on the large sum of arrears which are at present outstanding. The laws of this Province do not empower a Municipality to borrow money on the security of their arrears of taxes, so that, before this District can clean up the balance of its last year's accounts, these outstanding taxes will have to be collected.

In the case where the District owes a ratepayer for last year's road work this amount will be deducted, in the event of the said party owing arrears.

E. H. PIDGEON,
 Secretary-Treasurer,
 Duffield, Alta., 7th May, 1923.
